In the District Court in and for the Third judicial district of Utah territory, county of Salt Lake. Mary Ann Myrow, plaintiff vs. Gustave Myrow, defendant.—Summons. The people of the territory of Utah send greeting: To Gustave Myrow, defendant. You are hereby required to uppear it an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the district court of the Third judicial district of the territory of Utah, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days executively of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county, or, if served out of this county, but in this district, within twintly days; atherwise within forty days—or judgment by default will be taken systimst you, according to the prayer of said complaint.

The said action is brought to have a decree of this court dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff other and further relief together with her coats of suit; above relief prayed on the ground that on or about March 8 1891, the defendant willfully descrided plaintiff, and without cause, and wrongcully abandoned the home, and ever since said time has continuously and without cause described and abandoned this plaintiff. And you are hereby notified that if you fall to appear and answer the said complaint as above required the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded therein.

Witness the Hom. Charles St. Zane, judge, and the seal of the district court of the Third judicial district, in said for the [SEAL] territory of Utab, this little day of September in the year of our Lord one thous and eight hynored and nitery two.

EIGHT CENTS A DAY

W.II Enable Any Citizen in America te Secure the Best Encyclopædia, namely, the Americanized Encyclopadia Britannica.

Three things ought to find a place in every American home: The Sacred Scriptures, a good newspaper and a thoroughly reliable encyclopædia. The first we are quite sure every family in which our paper is taken already enjoys; the second it has been the business of our lives to furnish; the third we place at the disposal of our readers from this moment. Eight cents a day for eight months will hereafter enable any citizen to secure a complete set of the Americanized Encyclopædia Britannica, which, after a careful examination, we confidently believe to be the most complete, reliable and altogether the best work of its kind extant to-day. This is another illustration of the motto that lies at the base of American institutions: In union there is strength. We have simply organized our readers into a club of encyclopædia buyers, and obtained Irom the publishers the concessions which so large an organization has the legitimate right to demand. Our reward will come in an increased circulation. which, again, will probably enable us to secure similar advantages for our subscribers in some other direction This is as it should be; the publishers and readers of a great newspaper should work together for mutual ad-

What the publishers have done is to take the Encyclopædia Britannica to pieces and rebuild it with amendments and improvements. The latest or ninth edition of the original work was compiled some fifteen years ago; the American editors have revised it to the present year. The original work was crowded with minute and exhaustive descriptions of English towns, cities, counties, boroughs, minor institutions and other matters of peculiar interest to Englishmen, and to Englishmen alone, while American subjects were treated with the same brevity as French or German. The American editors have reversed this method-condensed the articles on distinctively British subjects within ressonable limits and utilized the space thus gained for exhaustive discussions of purely American topics. The original work excluded from its plan all mention of individuals, however famous, who were alive at the time of its compilation; it says not a word of more than half the men whose names are written on the pages of modern history—no word of Grant or Sheridan or Sherman, Harrist Beecher Stowe, Julia Ward Howe or Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, of Cleveland, Harrison or Blaine, or Parnell, Salisbury or Bismarck. This woful lapsus, too, has been supplied in the Americanized edition. A series of 4,000 biographies, each brought down to the present year, enables the reader to learn at a glance the life story of every noted individual of the present generation. To all this add a complete series of maps and a number of well-executed engravings illustrative of the text, and the Americanized Encyclopædia Britannica is before you-s work in whose introduction to our readers we feel a not nuwarrantable pride.

OUR PROPOSITION.

By placing a subscription to this paper for one 'ear, we will deliver to you a complete set in cloth binding of the Americanized Encyclopædia Britaunics on payment of $8.00 and your signing a contract to pay $2.00 for ten months in all twenty-six dollars, thus giving you the best Encyclopedia extent at a trifling cor'
